

WINTER 2009

2009-2010 News!

The Symphony of the Kootenays is pleased to be able to announce that Vivaldi's Four Seasons has been confirmed for the 2009-2010 season. This treasured Baroque masterpiece has been delighting audiences for almost 300 years, and we're very pleased to be offering it in our next season. Subscriptions for 2009-2010 will be available very soon.

Upcoming Concerts:

Two Classics from a Master of the Classical Period

With Soloists Dawn Mussellam, Jacqui Lynn Fidler, Jorge Aviles, and Graham Paynter

Saturday, January 24, 2009 at 7:30 PM - Key City Theatre, Cranbrook
(tickets still available at Max's Ticket Central)

Sunday, January 25, 2009 at 2:00 PM - Christ Church Trinity, Invermere
(tickets still available at Invermere One Hour Photo and Smoky Water Coffee
Co. in Fairmont)

A Canadian Classic

Guest Artist: Connie Kaldor

Three-time Juno Award Winner Connie Kaldor brings her witty, deeply personal, and masterful talents to the Key City Stage in an evening of song and symphony that is not to be missed.

Saturday, February 21, 2009 at 7:30 pm
Key City Theatre, Cranbrook
(Tickets still available at Max's Ticket Central)

Orchestral Splendor

The virtuosity of Jasper Wood, the melodies of Mendelssohn, and the spirit of your orchestra combine under the passionate direction of guest conductor, John van Deursen.

Saturday, April 25, 2009 at 8:00 pm - Capitol Theatre, Nelson
(Tickets still available at the Capital Theatre)

Sunday, April 26, 2009 at 2:00 pm – Key City Theatre, Cranbrook
(Tickets still available at Max's Ticket Central)

Symphony of the Kootenays

QUARTER NOTES

Dinner For Eight

Our very popular fundraiser is underway once again, and with only 250 tickets available, the chances of winning are excellent! An exceptional evening for you and seven of your closest friends, complete with limousine, wine, dinner, and the cozy warm feeling of supporting your Symphony. Tickets will be available at the Jan. 24th “Papa Haydn” performance, and are priced at only $20.00 each, so bring your checkbook and don’t be disappointed. And if you want tickets and can’t make it to the performance on the 24th, then please call the Symphony at 250.489.4932 and leave a message We’ll get you tickets if we’ve got any left.

Our New General Manager

The Symphony of the Kootenays is pleased to introduce Brian De Paoli as its new general manager. A Kootenay boy born and raised in Kimberley, Brian worked for twenty years in the Vancouver Film and Television industry before coming home to raise his family. He’s had a varied professional career, working on everything from music videos to sewer lines. “I had a sense the GM job with the Symphony required the skills of a generalist,” says Brian, “and I certainly fall into that category.” Please introduce yourself to Brian if you can catch up with him.

Billets

The Symphony of the Kootenays survives through the thoughtfulness and generosity of the community, and nowhere is this shown more than by the terrific folks who host our musicians as billets. We would like to offer our heartfelt thanks to our billet host families, and would like to invite anyone who is interested in acting as a billet to call us at 250.489.4932, e-mail us at symphonyofthekootenays@shaw.ca, or to speak with one of the members of the board at the next performance.